

About

From accomplished psychotherapist to globally recognized leadership consultant, Karen Hardwick has transformed the lives and performance of thousands of leaders at companies like KMPG, ESPN, Turner Broadcasting, and Intercontinental Hotels Group.

Karen's work, wise and profound, encourages leaders to drop the old school way of trying to MBA-their-way-out-of-crisis-and-challenge ... and move into the Connection Era where self-discovery awakens potential and deepens connection.

It's this level of transformation and Connection that helped Karen doubledown on what she had to heal to live more courageously and lead more honestly, at work and home. This is the same Connection that she leverages to help countless leaders transform their lives and enhance the well-being of their teams and organizations.

“ We do not have a leadership crisis.
We are leaders having a human-being crisis.
And the antidote is connection.
